

Claude-Michel Rome

They direct in English

Following Dans La Tête Du Tueur (TF1 - GMT), Claude-Michel ROME switched between comedies and thrillers. His remake of The Two-Sided Mirror (for which he brought together Stéphane FREISS et Claire KEIM), gave him the chance to work on drama. He directed two 100' for FTV : La Guerre Au Royal Palace, screened on France 3 and prestigious film called Stavisky, l'Escroc du Siècle. He also directed many Crime à. After filming Vagabond De La Baie De Somme for France 3, Claude-Michel ROME went on to work on La Loi D'Alexandre, in which Gérard JUGNOT succeeded Josiane BALASKO. His film for TF1, L'Emprise, was a great success in early 2015. For TF1, he's on a project Je Ne Suis Pas Un Héros, and a new serie Le Temps Est Assassin.

He's now working on the adaptation of his first novel, Dieu pardonne, moi pas, and the adaptation of the book "Douzième chapitre" by Jérôme Loubry.
